

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COMMISSION FOR ASIA AND THE PACIFIC
AND
THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANIZATION

I. INTRODUCTION

RECALLING the Agreement between the United Nations and the International Labour Organization dated 3 November 1945, the International Labour Organization, represented by the International Labour Office, (ILO) and the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP) reaffirm their desire to work together in areas of mutual interest through the present Memorandum of Understanding (MoU);

WHEREAS the primary goal of the ILO is to promote opportunities for women and men to obtain decent and productive work in conditions of freedom, equity, security and human dignity. The ILO's Decent Work Agenda rests on four pillars: respect for fundamental principles and rights at work and international labour standards, enhanced employment and income opportunities for women and men, social protection for all, and social dialogue to ensure greater voice and representation for people at work. The Decent Work Agenda as described in the 2008 ILO Declaration on Social Justice for a Fair Globalization represents an integrated approach that enables balanced progress toward the goals of economic development and social equity. The ILO assists member States in Asia and the Pacific in implementing the Decent Work Agenda. In 2006, the ILO's tripartite constituents, comprising worker, employer and government representatives established the Asian Decent Work Decade for the period up to 2015 in order to make a concerted and sustained effort to realize decent work in all countries of this diverse region, which was updated at the ILO's 15th Asia and the Pacific Regional Meeting in 2011;

WHEREAS the primary objective of the ESCAP is to promote regional cooperation for inclusive, equitable and sustainable economic and social development in Asia and the Pacific, so that (a) member States have more effective, inclusive, equitable and sustainable development policies for addressing development from a multi-disciplinary perspective, to narrow development gaps and build resiliency; (b) global processes are shaped by a stronger coordinated regional voice and countries are supported in implementing international commitments; and (c) regional cooperation mechanisms and institutional frameworks are in place to promote regional integration and inclusive and equitable development;

WHEREAS the present MoU shall supersede the Memorandum of Understanding between the ILO and ESCAP signed respectively on 9 January 2009 and 27 November 2008;

NOW THEREFORE, the Parties agree:

II. PURPOSE OF ILO-ESCAP COOPERATION

1. ILO and ESCAP reaffirm their commitment to work together to mutually reinforce and strengthen the work programmes of the respective organizations in supporting member States in the overall achievement of the internationally agreed development goals, including the Millennium Development Goals, and the outcomes of the post-

2015 process, including Sustainable Development Goals, taking into account the decent work approach. The themes of "social protection and public policy", "the promotion of social justice for a fair globalization", "the rights-based approach to development" and "inclusive and equitable development" will guide cooperation under this MoU.

III. FOCUS OF ILO-ESCAP JOINT ACTIVITIES

2. The specific focus for joint priority activities include, but are not limited to, youth employment, social protection, statistics, and macroeconomic issues (including labour market and labour migration policies), which may be amended from time to time with the mutual written consent of the two organizations:

- (a) Youth Employment: Investments in youth, including in relation to education, decent work, and awareness of health issues, are of vital importance. The promotion of youth employment, using a multi-pronged and balanced approach which takes into consideration the diversity of the region, in view to respond to the highest global priority of generating decent jobs for young women and men should foster pro-employment growth and decent job creation through macroeconomic policies; education, training and skills; ICTs; labour market policies; the promotion of small and medium-sized enterprises; entrepreneurship and self-employment; and rights for young people in line with the Rio+20 Summit and the United Nations Secretary-General's Five-Year Action Agenda.
- (b) Social protection: Despite recent economic growth in the region, inequalities are also widening in a number of countries. Thus, a more sustainable approach to development is critical, in order to uphold the rights of all people to income security and ensure access to a minimum level of social services through more extensive social protection coverage. In this regard, it is imperative to support policymakers and stakeholders to build broader and more robust social protection systems; promote knowledge exchange through research and dialogue amongst policymakers and practitioners; and enhance the capacity of member States to strengthen relevant policies and programmes. This also includes special attention to migrants, who make significant contributions to the economies of societies of both countries of origin and destination, but are not fully granted basic human rights and have only limited access to social protection.
- (c) Statistics: Enhancing regional knowledge of effective policy options for development results through (i) improving collection, analysis and dissemination of indicators for monitoring of progress towards the relevant development agendas, recognizing the importance of mainstreaming statistics across all areas of cooperation; and (ii) building capacity of member states for regular production, dissemination and use of relevant statistics within the framework of the Core Sets of economic and social statistics as endorsed by the ESCAP Commission.
- (d) Macroeconomic, labour market and labour migration policies: Strengthening regional cooperation towards a stable macroeconomic environment, inclusive regional financial architecture, more effective governance of labour migration and increased protection of women and achieving and sustaining high levels of inclusive growth and development. Joint analysis, research and policy discussion regarding interactions between forward-looking macroeconomic and labour market policies in Asia-Pacific region, the relationship among inclusive growth, productive employment, inequality and poverty, the development of knowledge base and policies on labour migration, capacity building of social partners are of the main collaboration's focus.

Gender equality is fundamental to achieving the sustainable economic growth, social development and the ILO Decent Work Agenda. The ILO and ESCAP, therefore, promote gender mainstreaming in all technical cooperation activities between the two agencies.
