Many paths to Universal Social Protection

Governments have a wide set of combinations of actions to achieve universal social protection. South-South learning shows:

- Some countries opted for immediate universal coverage – eg. Botswana, Timor Leste.

- Others gradual and progressive approach, often starting with cash transfers and social services for the poorest and most vulnerable people, and then extending them to wider groups of people – eg. Brazil, Thailand.

- Some have universalism embedded in their national constitutions - eg. Bolivia, South Africa.

- Others have achieved universalism without any similar constitutional provisions eg. Swaziland, Uruguay.

- Universal social protection is most commonly started with old-age pensions, but some countries have opted to universalize in parallel disability, maternity and/or child benefits. Eg. Argentina, Nepal.

  - Some provide a publicly-financed social pension/benefit to all – eg. Mongolia, Namibia.

  - Others provide a minimum pension to those who do not have a contributory pension, ensuring universality - eg. Azerbaijan, China.

  - Strategic use of transfers to the poor and vulnerable who are not reached out by other social protection schemes - Brazil, Chile, Georgia.

Strategies for Universal Social Protection Systems, including floors

- (a) Start national dialogue and call all relevant stakeholders, including employers, workers, UN and development partners
- (b) Identify gaps in social protection; define the roadmap towards progressive extension of social protection for all.
- (c) Determine appropriate social protection schemes, whether contributory or non-contributory, or both, as well as the time frame and sequencing for the progressive achievement of the objectives
- (d) Cost selected schemes, identify potential fiscal space
- (e) Discuss financial and human resources with Ministry of Finance
- (f) Agree national strategy through national social dialogue
